Climate Change targets for Caledon 2030

Once EPA and AG lands are developed, there is no way we can get them back.

- Development fractures farming and is incompatible

Paving over environmentally protected and prime agricultural land is not good for the 2030 Carbon reduction targets

- Our 36% reduction in carbon emissions is only 9 years away
- Stop rezoning Environmentally Protected lands and Prime Agriculture for development

Realize that food security is paramount for the future, we can't farm on the Canadian shield

The Road to 2051 Agricultural Trends study Report for Planning Policy for the Town of Caledon recommendations

- The agricultural land base is preserved and strengthened.
- The Caledon agricultural sector is part of the rural experience.
- The agricultural sector has adapted to complement a growing population.
- To help Caledon's agriculture industry realize this future, the Town of Caledon can stop rezoning Prime Agricultural Land for Industrial

Recommendations

We can't stop farmers from selling their land, but we can stop rezoning lands for Developer gain

Force green development standards for industrial and residential

Invest in public transit, stop car dependent sprawl

Stop converting EPA lands for housing

Force a hard urban boundary, protecting our greenbelt, our food and our future
